

BUILD ONE ZAMBIA

SHADOW GOVERNMENT CABINET

September 2026 – August 2031

Important Notice

This is a shadow government serving a consultancy purpose. Cabinet members listed below are proposed leaders who put constructive pressure on the current government and advocate for policy accountability and reform. They are not officeholders. Their collective expertise represents an alternative vision for Zambia's governance.

At Build One Zambia, we envision a unified, prosperous nation where every Zambian — regardless of background — can thrive. Our proposed cabinet brings together diverse, experienced leaders committed to tackling Zambia's core challenges: economic instability, unemployment, governance inefficiencies, and social inequities. Rooted in values of hard work, resilience, and faith, our team will foster job creation, education reform, and sustainable development to secure a brighter future for our children and communities.

PRESIDENTIAL LEADERSHIP

PRESIDENTIAL CANDIDATE

Vincent Kafula Male

BCom Economics (UNISA) · Co-founder, Vink Multi Services Pty Ltd

Vincent Kafula was born in Ndola in 1988 into a working-class family, an experience that shaped his deep understanding of the economic struggles facing ordinary Zambians. Despite facing significant financial hardship in his formative years, he demonstrated exceptional resilience and a relentless drive to improve his circumstances through education and entrepreneurship.

He earned a Bachelor of Commerce in Economics from the University of South Africa (UNISA), gaining a rigorous grounding in economic theory, policy analysis, and business management. He subsequently co-founded Vink Multi Services Pty Ltd, growing the enterprise from a modest start-up into a multi-sector business operating across services, logistics, and trading. Through this entrepreneurial journey, Kafula developed firsthand insight into the systemic barriers that prevent small businesses from scaling in Zambia — including limited access to finance, regulatory inefficiencies, and infrastructure constraints.

As presidential candidate for Build One Zambia, Kafula brings a vision rooted in economic empowerment, national unity, and institutional reform. He has consistently articulated a platform focused on job creation through SME support, education investment, agricultural modernisation, and responsible mineral resource governance. His personal story — from financial adversity to business leadership — resonates deeply with millions of Zambians seeking a leader who understands their daily realities. He envisions a Zambia where every citizen, regardless of background, has a genuine opportunity to build a prosperous life.

VICE PRESIDENTIAL CANDIDATE

Hon. Tasila Lungu Mwansa Female

MP for Chawama (2021) · PF Chairperson Chawama · Nkoloma Ward Councillor (2016)

Hon. Tasila Lungu Mwansa was born on 10 May 1983 and has distinguished herself as one of Zambia's most dynamic and compassionate political figures. Her political career began at the grassroots level as Nkoloma Ward Councillor in 2016, where she developed a reputation for accessible, community-centred leadership and consistent advocacy for residents' welfare.

She rose to serve as PF Chairperson for Chawama Constituency from 2020, before winning the parliamentary seat for Chawama in the 2021 general elections — a constituency with one of the highest population densities in Lusaka and a community facing persistent challenges of unemployment, infrastructure deficits, and social inequality. In parliament, she served on committees covering transport infrastructure, human rights, and governance, roles in which she championed legislative reforms benefiting vulnerable communities.

Beyond politics, Tasila is a committed philanthropist whose charitable work spans education access, women's empowerment, and youth development. She has established community outreach programmes that have provided direct support to thousands of families in Lusaka's peri-urban areas. Her blend of empathy, legislative experience, and grassroots credibility make her an ideal partner to the presidential candidate. As Vice President, she will serve as a strong advocate for inclusive governance, ensuring the voices of women, youth, and marginalised communities remain at the centre of national decision-making.

ECONOMIC AFFAIRS & FINANCE

MINISTER OF FINANCE

H.E. Chileshe Mpundu Kapwepwe Female

Secretary-General, COMESA · Former IMF Executive Director · MBA, FCCA

H.E. Chileshe Mpundu Kapwepwe is one of Africa's most respected figures in international economic governance. She has built a distinguished career spanning Zambia's national treasury, international financial institutions, and pan-African economic integration. She served as Deputy Minister of Finance in Zambia, where she oversaw critical aspects of fiscal policy and budget management during a period of significant economic reform pressure.

Her appointment as an IMF Executive Director placed her among a select group of African leaders representing the continent's interests at the world's premier international monetary institution. In this capacity, she engaged in high-level policy negotiations on debt restructuring, fiscal frameworks, and developmental financing — experience directly relevant to Zambia's ongoing debt management challenges. As Secretary-General of the Common Market for Eastern and Southern Africa (COMESA), she has championed regional trade integration, digital financial systems, and the harmonisation of investment policies across 21 member states.

Kapwepwe holds an MBA and is a Fellow of the Chartered Certified Accountants (FCCA), reflecting both strategic business acumen and deep technical financial expertise. She was named one of Africa's Most Influential Women in 2023, recognising her contributions to economic leadership across the continent. As Minister of Finance, she will implement disciplined fiscal frameworks, pursue sustainable debt resolution, strengthen revenue mobilisation, and ensure Zambia's macroeconomic stability supports inclusive growth and poverty reduction.

MINISTER OF TRADE, INDUSTRY & ECONOMIC DEVELOPMENT

Dr. Dolika Banda Female

Former CEO, African Risk Capacity Insurance Ltd · Africa Regional Director, British International Investment · MBA

Dr. Dolika Banda brings over 36 years of experience in global finance, development economics, and business leadership to the role of Minister of Trade, Industry and Economic Development. Her career has traversed some of the world's most significant financial institutions, from private banking to multilateral development finance, giving her an unparalleled breadth of perspective on what drives sustainable economic growth in developing economies.

As former CEO of African Risk Capacity Insurance Limited — a specialised agency of the African Union — she led the development of innovative sovereign risk insurance mechanisms that protect African nations against climate-related agricultural losses. This experience gave her deep knowledge of risk management, agricultural value chains, and the structural vulnerabilities of African economies. As Africa Regional Director for British International Investment (formerly CDC Group), she managed a substantial portfolio of investments across multiple African markets, focusing on job-creating businesses in sectors ranging from financial services to manufacturing and agri-processing.

She also served as Chair of Standard Chartered Bank Zambia's Board of Directors, overseeing governance of a major commercial banking institution. Holding an MBA in International Business and Banking, Dr. Banda combines strategic vision with technical financial expertise. As Minister of Trade, she will spearhead Zambia's AfCFTA integration strategy, build industrial clusters that add value to raw commodities, empower SMEs with finance and market access, and attract quality foreign direct investment aligned with Zambia's national development priorities.

MINISTER OF ENERGY & ELECTRICITY

Dr. Lubinda Haabazoka Male

Director, UNZA Graduate School of Business · PhD Economics (Rostov State Economics University)

Dr. Lubinda Haabazoka is one of Zambia's most prominent economists and a leading voice on energy economics, structural development, and financial policy. He serves as Director of the Graduate School of Business at the University of Zambia (UNZA) and has previously served as President of the Economics Association of Zambia, where he shaped national economic policy discourse and provided a platform for evidence-based policy advocacy.

His academic credentials include a PhD in Economics from Rostov State Economics University in Russia, where he developed deep expertise in macroeconomic modelling, resource economics, and development finance. This theoretical foundation is complemented by extensive practical experience — he has advised the World Bank on energy and economic policy, consulted with international hedge funds on African market strategies, and has been instrumental in structuring over $600 million worth of project finance deals across the energy and extractive sectors.

Dr. Haabazoka is a sought-after commentator on global platforms including CNN, Bloomberg, and the Financial Times, reflecting his ability to communicate complex economic issues to broad audiences. His expertise spans renewable energy finance, power sector restructuring, and the economics of hydropower, solar, and thermal energy systems — all of critical importance to Zambia, which faces persistent electricity deficits threatening industrial and household welfare. As Minister of Energy, he will pursue an ambitious electricity sector transformation strategy encompassing diversification of energy sources, attraction of private sector investment, modernisation of ZESCO's operations, and electrification of rural Zambia.

MINISTER OF SMALL BUSINESS DEVELOPMENT

Hon. Kanyanta Chanda Kapwepwe Male

Lecturer, Cape Peninsula University of Technology · Former Executive, Graca Machel Trust · MBA, LLB, ACCA

Hon. Kanyanta Chanda Kapwepwe is a multi-disciplinary professional whose career intersects law, business, academia, and international development. Currently lecturing at the Cape Peninsula University of Technology in South Africa, she brings rigorous academic grounding in business management, legal frameworks, and entrepreneurship development to her ministerial brief.

Her executive roles at the Graca Machel Trust and Habitat for Humanity gave her frontline experience in community-centred economic development, women's enterprise empowerment, and sustainable livelihoods programming across sub-Saharan Africa. These experiences shaped her conviction that small and medium enterprises are the engine of inclusive economic growth — and that government policy must actively remove the barriers that prevent Zambian entrepreneurs from realising their potential.

She holds an MBA, a Bachelor of Laws (LLB), and ACCA professional qualifications — a combination that equips her to design both legally robust business support frameworks and financially sound SME financing mechanisms. Her approach to small business development is holistic: addressing the full lifecycle of an enterprise from registration and compliance through to market access, financing, skills development, and export readiness. As Minister, she will implement a national SME support ecosystem that includes simplified business registration, innovative financing vehicles, mentorship networks, and dedicated industrial parks to nurture Zambia's entrepreneurs.

MINISTER OF EMPLOYMENT & LABOUR

Makebi Zulu, SC Male

Senior Counsel · LLB (UNZA) · Former MP Malambo · Founder, Makebi Zulu Advocates

Makebi Zulu is one of Zambia's most accomplished legal practitioners, having attained the prestigious rank of Senior Counsel — a recognition awarded to lawyers of exceptional competence and integrity. He holds a Bachelor of Laws from the University of Zambia (UNZA) and is the founding partner of Makebi Zulu Advocates, a prominent law firm with extensive experience in employment law, industrial relations, constitutional matters, and commercial litigation.

His political career has included service as Member of Parliament for Malambo Constituency and as Eastern Province Minister, where he gained firsthand understanding of the development disparities between urban and rural Zambia and the importance of labour policy in driving regional economic equity. He has practised extensively before the Industrial Relations Court, where he represented both employers and workers in complex employment disputes — giving him a uniquely balanced understanding of the competing interests that must be reconciled in effective labour policy.

As Minister of Employment and Labour, Zulu will undertake a comprehensive reform of Zambia's labour laws to create a framework that simultaneously protects workers' rights and creates a business environment conducive to job creation. He will prioritise the formalisation of Zambia's large informal economy, strengthen occupational health and safety enforcement, negotiate fair collective bargaining frameworks, and develop strategic partnerships with the private sector and vocational training institutions to match labour supply with market demand.

MINISTER OF AGRICULTURE & RURAL DEVELOPMENT

Hon. Robert 'Bob' Sichinga Male

Harvard-educated Economist · Former Minister of Commerce (2011–2016) and Agriculture (2013–2016)

Hon. Robert 'Bob' Sichinga is a Harvard-educated economist with a distinguished record in both Zambia's public service and private sector. His ministerial career in the Patriotic Front government included tenures as Minister of Commerce, Trade and Industry and Minister of Agriculture and Livestock — appointments in which he actively worked to stimulate industrial investment, support smallholder farmers, and promote Zambia's agricultural exports.

Sichinga's economic philosophy is grounded in the conviction that Zambia's agricultural sector — endowed with fertile land, abundant water resources, and a predominantly rural population — represents the country's most reliable pathway to broad-based prosperity. During his ministerial tenure, he advanced policies promoting mechanised farming, irrigation infrastructure, and agro-processing investment to move Zambia up the agricultural value chain.

His Harvard-level economic training gives him the analytical tools to design agricultural support programmes backed by rigorous economic evidence, while his extensive experience in trade and commerce equips him to develop export markets for Zambia's agricultural produce. As Minister of Agriculture and Rural Development, he will pursue a national food security strategy built on smallholder empowerment, expanded farmer input support, post-harvest infrastructure investment, irrigation development, and the creation of agri-processing zones to add value to Zambia's raw agricultural output. He will also champion rural road development and market access infrastructure to connect farmers to domestic and regional markets.

GOVERNANCE, JUSTICE & SECURITY

MINISTER OF JUSTICE & CONSTITUTIONAL DEVELOPMENT

John Sangwa, SC Male

Senior Counsel · LLB (UNZA) · Advanced Trial Advocacy, NITA (USA) · Founding Partner

John Sangwa is widely regarded as one of Zambia's foremost constitutional lawyers and public interest advocates. A Senior Counsel of exceptional reputation, he holds a Bachelor of Laws from the University of Zambia and completed advanced training in trial advocacy at the National Institute of Trial Advocacy (NITA) in the United States — an institution renowned for producing the world's most skilled litigators.

As a founding partner of his law firm and a former lecturer at the University of Zambia Law School, Sangwa has shaped both legal practice and legal education in Zambia over several decades. His expertise spans constitutional law, employment law, and criminal law, and he has appeared in some of Zambia's most significant constitutional cases, fearlessly challenging executive overreach and advocating for the supremacy of the constitution.

Sangwa has built a reputation for principled advocacy — he has publicly challenged constitutional violations by governments of all political persuasions, establishing his independence and commitment to the rule of law above partisan interest. His deep knowledge of Zambia's constitutional framework, its weaknesses, and the reforms required to strengthen democratic governance make him exceptionally well-suited to lead the Ministry of Justice and Constitutional Development. He will prioritise constitutional reform to entrench human rights protections, strengthen judicial independence, expand access to justice for ordinary Zambians, reform the legal aid system, and ensure that Zambia's legal framework meets international standards.

MINISTER OF HOME AFFAIRS

Dr. Sishuwa Sishuwa Male

PhD Modern History, University of Oxford · Senior Lecturer, Stellenbosch University · Author

Dr. Sishuwa Sishuwa is one of Africa's leading academic voices on Zambian politics, governance, and democratic development. He holds a PhD in Modern History from the University of Oxford and serves as a Senior Lecturer at Stellenbosch University in South Africa, where his research on Zambian political history, ethnicity, civil society, and governance has earned international recognition.

His 2024 book, Party Politics and Populism in Zambia, represents a landmark scholarly contribution to understanding Zambia's democratic trajectory, political party evolution, and the role of populism in shaping electoral outcomes. His research has been cited by policymakers, international organisations, and civil society actors working on Zambian governance reform. Beyond academia, Dr. Sishuwa has been a consistent and courageous public commentator on Zambian political affairs, challenging abuses of power, documenting electoral irregularities, and advocating for institutional accountability.

As Minister of Home Affairs, he will bring an evidence-based, rights-centred approach to the governance of home affairs — including immigration, civil registration, national identity, and the oversight of security services. He will prioritise the reform of security sector institutions to eliminate political interference, strengthen civilian oversight mechanisms, and create a security environment that protects citizens' rights while effectively addressing crime and national security threats. His expertise in ethnicity and national identity will inform policies that promote social cohesion and manage Zambia's remarkable ethnic diversity as a national strength.

MINISTER OF POLICEHon. Sakwiba Sikota, SC Male

Senior Counsel · Law and Politics, Keele University · MP for Livingstone (2001–2011) · Founder, Central Chambers

Hon. Sakwiba Sikota is a Senior Counsel and founding partner of Central Chambers, one of Zambia's prominent law firms with expertise in constitutional law, media law, and commercial litigation. He studied Law and Politics at Keele University in the United Kingdom — a rigorous interdisciplinary programme that gave him both legal technical expertise and a sophisticated understanding of political power, institutional design, and democratic governance.

From 2001 to 2011, he served as Member of Parliament for Livingstone, one of Zambia's most historically significant constituencies, where he championed tourism development, community rights, and legislative accountability. His parliamentary career was marked by principled advocacy, and he was recognised as one of the more independent and reform-oriented voices in the National Assembly during a pivotal decade in Zambia's democratic development.

Sikota's specialisation in constitutional and media law — including extensive work on freedom of expression, press freedom, and state accountability — gives him a distinctive perspective on policing that goes beyond operational matters to address the constitutional framework within which police authority must operate. As Minister of Police, he will lead a comprehensive transformation of the Zambia Police Service: professionalising recruitment and training, establishing robust accountability mechanisms including independent complaints bodies, building genuine community policing capacity, improving remuneration and welfare for officers, and ensuring the Police Service upholds constitutional rights in all its operations.

MINISTER OF CORRECTIONAL & PRISON SERVICESKelvin Bwalya Fube (KBF) Male

Lawyer and Advocate · Founder, 'Zambia Must Prosper' Agenda · Anti-Corruption Expert

Kelvin Bwalya Fube — widely known as KBF — is a lawyer, advocate, and political entrepreneur who has spent over a decade building a public platform focused on national renewal, anti-corruption, and economic reform. He launched his 'Zambia Must Prosper' agenda in 2018 as a grassroots mobilisation effort to challenge what he characterised as systemic governance failures and demand accountability from Zambia's political leadership.

His legal background has given him expertise in procurement law and anti-corruption frameworks — areas of critical importance in the prison and correctional services sector, which has historically been vulnerable to mismanagement and resource diversion. Beyond legal and advocacy work, KBF has engaged extensively with civil society, youth movements, and community organisations, building a network of grassroots support and developing practical understanding of how state institutions interact with marginalised communities.

KBF approaches correctional services with a transformative vision: prisons should not merely be places of punishment and detention, but centres for rehabilitation, skills development, and genuine reintegration into society. As Minister, he will implement a comprehensive prison reform agenda that includes vocational training programmes, mental health and substance abuse support, educational opportunities for inmates, strengthened human rights oversight to eliminate abuses, and community partnership frameworks that support ex-offenders in rebuilding productive lives. He will also tackle the systemic problems of prison overcrowding and pre-trial detention that undermine justice in Zambia.

MINISTER OF COOPERATIVE GOVERNANCE & TRADITIONAL AFFAIRS

Hon. Sean E. Tembo Male

PeP President · FCCA, FZICA, MBA · Founder, Enosyst Associates

Hon. Sean E. Tembo is the President of the Patriots for Economic Progress (PeP) party and one of Zambia's most vocal advocates for fiscal accountability, anti-corruption, and systemic governance reform. He is a Fellow of the Chartered Certified Accountants (FCCA) and a Fellow of the Zambia Institute of Chartered Accountants (FZICA), as well as an MBA holder — professional credentials that reflect a deep grounding in financial management, organisational governance, and strategic planning.

As founder of Enosyst Associates, a consulting firm focused on governance and financial advisory services, he has worked with public and private sector organisations on improving accountability systems, strengthening internal controls, and designing governance frameworks that deliver genuine institutional integrity. His political commentary — often delivered with characteristic directness — has made him one of the most recognisable voices in Zambia's opposition political landscape, consistently challenging what he views as governance failures and financial mismanagement.

As Minister of Cooperative Governance and Traditional Affairs, Tembo will leverage his financial expertise and accountability orientation to strengthen the governance frameworks of Zambia's local authorities, cooperatives, and traditional leadership institutions. He will implement systems for transparent cooperative financial management, build stronger partnerships between central government and traditional leaders as custodians of community governance, and develop frameworks that harness traditional authority structures in supporting community development, conflict resolution, and social cohesion.

MINISTER OF DEFENCE & MILITARY VETERANS

John Kapila Male

Strategic Leadership · Resource Management · National Security Expert

John Kapila is a dynamic leader whose professional background in strategic leadership, resource management, and organisational development equips him to provide civilian oversight of Zambia's defence establishment with fresh energy and reform-oriented vision. His experience in managing complex organisations, aligning resources with strategic objectives, and building high-performance institutional cultures translates directly to the challenges of modernising the Zambia Defence Force.

Kapila brings to the defence portfolio an entrepreneurial perspective — one that values efficiency, clear accountability, outcomes-based management, and the welfare of personnel as essential foundations of organisational effectiveness. He understands that a well-led, well-resourced, and professionally managed defence force is not merely a security asset but also an institution that shapes the character and confidence of a nation.

As Minister of Defence and Military Veterans, Kapila will prioritise a comprehensive welfare programme for Zambia's military veterans — a community that has historically received insufficient recognition and support for their service. He will develop structured skills transfer and reintegration pathways for retiring service members, ensure veterans have access to healthcare, housing support, and livelihood opportunities, and create a regimental culture that honours military service. On the institutional side, he will advance the modernisation of the Zambia Defence Force's capabilities, logistics systems, and strategic planning frameworks while ensuring civilian democratic oversight remains paramount.

SOCIAL SERVICES & HUMAN DEVELOPMENT

MINISTER OF HEALTH

Prof. Nkandu Luo Female

Over 40 Years in Health & Research · Pioneer of Zambia's HIV/AIDS Programmes · Founder, SWAA · Global Roles with WHO and UNAIDS

Prof. Nkandu Luo is one of the most distinguished figures in African public health, with a career spanning more than four decades in medical research, health policy, and international health governance. She is a pioneer whose early work on HIV/AIDS in Zambia helped establish the institutional infrastructure that has since saved hundreds of thousands of lives — including the establishment of national blood screening centres and the creation of the National AIDS Council, which became a model for HIV/AIDS governance across Africa.

As founder of the Society for Women Against AIDS in Africa (SWAA), she championed the gendered dimensions of the AIDS epidemic at a time when women's specific vulnerabilities were poorly understood by mainstream health institutions. Her global roles with the World Health Organisation (WHO) and UNAIDS placed her at the centre of international health policy development, giving her firsthand experience of how global health strategies are formulated and implemented at scale.

Prof. Luo's research contributions have been published in leading international medical journals and she has advised governments and international bodies on infectious disease control, reproductive health, and health systems strengthening. As Minister of Health, she will pursue a transformative health system agenda: achieving universal health coverage, strengthening primary healthcare infrastructure in rural areas, rebuilding health worker capacity and morale, tackling communicable and non-communicable disease burdens, and advancing women's and children's health outcomes. She will also professionalise health sector governance and reduce Zambia's dependence on donor-funded health programmes through sustainable domestic health financing.

MINISTER OF BASIC EDUCATION

Hon. Gary Nkombo Male

Educator and Politician · MP for Mazabuka Central (2006–2021) · UPND Party Whip · Former Minister of Local Government

Hon. Gary Nkombo brings a rare combination of classroom experience and national legislative leadership to the Ministry of Basic Education. A trained educator who translated his commitment to learning into a distinguished parliamentary career, he served as Member of Parliament for Mazabuka Central from 2006 to 2021, making him one of Zambia's most experienced legislators and a seasoned voice on education policy.

During his parliamentary tenure, he served as the United Party for National Development (UPND) Party Whip, a role that required exceptional organisational acumen, legislative strategy, and the ability to build consensus across diverse political perspectives. His subsequent appointment as Minister of Local Government and Rural Development gave him executive experience in managing large government departments and navigating the complex interface between national policy and local delivery systems.

Nkombo is a passionate advocate for free, quality education as a fundamental right and the most powerful tool available for breaking intergenerational poverty cycles in Zambia. He has consistently championed policies to expand rural access to schooling, improve teacher recruitment and retention in underserved areas, and modernise Zambia's school curriculum to better prepare learners for the demands of a 21st-century economy. As Minister of Basic Education, he will implement comprehensive curriculum reform, accelerate school construction in underserved communities, strengthen teacher training and professional development, and ensure that every Zambian child — regardless of location or economic background — has access to quality basic education.

MINISTER OF HIGHER EDUCATION & INNOVATION

Hon. Highvie Hambulo Hamududu Male

PNUP President · BA Economics · Former MP and University Lecturer · Parliamentary Budget Committee Chair

Hon. Highvie Hambulo Hamududu is one of Zambia's most respected voices on public finance, economic development, and higher education policy. He holds a Bachelor of Arts in Economics and has served both as a university lecturer — where he shaped the economic thinking of a generation of Zambian graduates — and as a parliamentarian, bringing academic rigour to legislative debates on budget policy and economic management.

As Chair of Zambia's Parliamentary Budget Committee, he played a pivotal role in scrutinising government expenditure, analysing fiscal policy proposals, and holding the executive accountable for public resource management. This experience gave him deep insight into the financing constraints facing Zambia's higher education system and the economic returns that strategic investment in universities, technical colleges, and research institutions can generate.

As President of the Party for National Unity and Progress (PNUP), Hamududu has articulated a vision for Zambia's economic transformation centred on knowledge, innovation, and human capital development. He believes that Zambia's universities and research institutions must be repositioned as engines of national innovation — generating intellectual property, supporting industrial development, and producing graduates equipped with skills relevant to Zambia's economic priorities. As Minister of Higher Education and Innovation, he will strengthen university-industry partnerships, expand technical and vocational education, increase research funding, support STEM education at scale, and pursue internationalisation strategies that position Zambia's institutions as centres of African academic excellence.

MINISTER IN THE PRESIDENCY — WOMEN, YOUTH & PERSONS WITH DISABILITIES

Hon. Saboi Imboela Female

NDC President · Master's in International Law and Politics · Musician, Lecturer and UNDP Consultant

Hon. Saboi Imboela is one of Zambia's most multifaceted public figures — a lawyer, musician, lecturer, and political leader whose professional life embodies the intersection of culture, human rights, and democratic advocacy. As President of the National Democratic Congress (NDC), she has consistently championed an inclusive political vision that centres gender equality, youth participation, and the rights of persons with disabilities as non-negotiable pillars of genuine democratic governance.

She holds a Master's degree in International Law and Politics — a rigorous qualification that gives her expertise in human rights law, international development frameworks, gender equality instruments, and the legal mechanisms available to governments seeking to advance social justice. Her work as a UNDP consultant has given her practical understanding of how international development programmes are designed and implemented, and how to translate global commitments on gender and inclusion into effective national policy.

Photo

As a musician and cultural practitioner, Imboela understands the power of arts and culture in shifting social norms, challenging discrimination, and building national identity. She has used her artistic platform to advocate for women's rights, challenge gender-based violence, and amplify the voices of young people in Zambia's public discourse. As Minister in the Presidency responsible for Women, Youth and Persons with Disabilities, she will lead a comprehensive agenda to expand economic opportunities for women, create meaningful youth employment and entrepreneurship pathways, and ensure that Zambia's legal and social frameworks genuinely protect and include persons with disabilities.

MINISTER OF SOCIAL DEVELOPMENT

Hon. Kampamba Mulenga Female

Qualified Nurse · Former Kalulushi District Commissioner · First Female MP for Kalulushi

Hon. Kampamba Mulenga carries an exceptional breadth of experience across healthcare, public administration, and parliamentary service that uniquely qualifies her to lead the Ministry of Social Development. As a qualified nurse, she began her career in direct service to Zambia's most vulnerable communities, developing an intimate understanding of poverty, illness, and the social conditions that determine human wellbeing.

Her appointment as Kalulushi District Commissioner provided her with executive experience in local government administration, resource allocation, and community development programming — giving her practical knowledge of how central government policies translate into outcomes at the district and community level. When she subsequently became the first female Member of Parliament for Kalulushi, she broke historic barriers and became a symbol of women's political empowerment in the Copperbelt region. Her parliamentary service spanned committees and ministerial responsibilities covering Information, Fisheries, and Community Development — demonstrating her versatility and commitment to diverse aspects of national development.

As Minister of Social Development, Mulenga will prioritise the strengthening of Zambia's social protection systems — expanding cash transfer programmes to reach the most vulnerable, building community-based social welfare networks, advancing women's economic empowerment through targeted support programmes, and improving social services for children, orphans, elderly persons, and persons with disabilities. She will bring a nurse's empathy and a commissioner's administrative competence to the challenge of building genuinely inclusive social development frameworks.

MINISTER OF PUBLIC SERVICE & ADMINISTRATION

Dr. Dora Siliya Female

PhD Development Studies · MPhil Political Economy · BA Mass Communication · Diplomat and Former Minister

Dr. Dora Siliya is one of Zambia's most accomplished and versatile public servants, with a career that has encompassed journalism, business, diplomacy, and senior ministerial leadership across multiple government portfolios. Her academic credentials are exceptional: a PhD in Development Studies, an MPhil in Political Economy, and a Bachelor of Arts in Mass Communication — a combination that gives her both sophisticated analytical tools for policy design and powerful communication skills for driving institutional change.

As a former minister with experience spanning trade, education, and agriculture portfolios, Dr. Siliya has led large government departments through complex reform processes, managed substantial public resources, and developed a deep understanding of the structural challenges that limit public service effectiveness in Zambia. Her entrepreneurial credentials include co-founding Platinum Communications, demonstrating her capacity to build and lead organisations beyond the public sector.

Her diplomatic experience gives her a comparative perspective on public administration — understanding how other countries' civil services are structured, how they attract talent, and how they achieve high performance through incentive systems, accountability frameworks, and organisational culture. As Minister of Public Service and Administration, Dr. Siliya will lead a comprehensive transformation of Zambia's civil service: modernising human resource management systems, implementing performance management frameworks, reducing bureaucratic inefficiencies, investing in public servant capacity building, and embedding innovation and citizen-centred service delivery as the defining ethos of Zambia's public administration.

INFRASTRUCTURE, ENVIRONMENT & LAND

MINISTER OF TRANSPORT

Hon. Miles Bwalya Sampa Male

PF President · MP for Matero · Economics Degree · Former Mayor of Lusaka · Former Deputy Commerce Minister

Hon. Miles Bwalya Sampa has held some of Zambia's most significant political and administrative leadership positions, accumulating a comprehensive understanding of urban governance, economic policy, and infrastructure development. Holding an Economics degree, he served as Deputy Minister of Commerce, Trade and Industry — giving him insights into the economic linkages between transport infrastructure, trade logistics, and industrial competitiveness.

As Mayor of Lusaka, Sampa managed one of sub-Saharan Africa's fastest-growing capital cities, grappling directly with the transport infrastructure demands of rapid urbanisation: congested road networks, inadequate public transport systems, deteriorating street infrastructure, and the challenge of planning mobility networks for a city growing at pace. This experience gave him firsthand understanding of how transport policy affects the daily lives of millions of ordinary Zambians — from the commuter spending hours in traffic to the rural farmer unable to access markets due to poor feeder roads.

As President of the Patriotic Front (PF) and Member of Parliament for Matero — a densely populated Lusaka constituency — he continues to engage directly with the transport challenges facing urban communities. As Minister of Transport, Sampa will develop a national integrated transport strategy that addresses road network maintenance and expansion, railway rehabilitation for freight transport, urban public transport modernisation including bus rapid transit systems, airport infrastructure development to support tourism and trade, and the regulatory frameworks needed to make Zambia's transport sector more efficient, affordable, and accessible.

MINISTER OF PUBLIC WORKS & INFRASTRUCTURE

Sililo Mwala Male

Graduate, Lusaka Open University · Sustainable Construction and Urban Planning

Sililo Mwala brings a grounded, community-centred perspective to infrastructure development — one that prioritises transparency, environmental sustainability, and the creation of local employment opportunities through construction and public works programmes. A graduate of Lusaka Open University, he has developed expertise in sustainable construction practices and urban planning principles, areas of increasing importance as Zambia confronts the dual challenges of urbanisation and climate adaptation.

His approach to infrastructure development is fundamentally pragmatic: he understands that infrastructure projects must be managed transparently to ensure value for public money, that construction activities can be designed to maximise local employment and skills transfer, and that built infrastructure must be maintained to deliver sustained economic benefits rather than deteriorating due to neglect. He advocates for procurement systems that prioritise local contractors, local materials, and local labour — ensuring that infrastructure investment circulates within Zambia's economy.

As Minister of Public Works and Infrastructure, Mwala will oversee Zambia's public infrastructure portfolio with an emphasis on transparent project management, rigorous contract supervision, community engagement in infrastructure planning, and maintenance systems that protect the government's infrastructure investment. He will prioritise infrastructure in underserved rural and peri-urban areas, advocate for climate-resilient construction standards, and develop frameworks for infrastructure development that create sustainable employment and skills development opportunities for Zambian workers and contractors.

MINISTER OF WATER & SANITATION

Tobias Maambo Male

National Institute of Public Administration (NIPA) · Charter in Marketing (CIM) · Water Sector Development Expert

Tobias Maambo combines public administration expertise with a deep commitment to equitable access to water and sanitation — services whose absence condemns communities to preventable disease, economic marginalisation, and diminished human dignity. His educational background at the National Institute of Public Administration (NIPA) and his Charter in Marketing from the Chartered Institute of Marketing (CIM) equip him to manage complex public service delivery systems and communicate effectively with diverse stakeholders from rural communities to international development partners.

Zambia's water and sanitation sector faces profound challenges: significant portions of the rural population lack access to safe drinking water, urban sanitation systems are overwhelmed by population growth, climate variability is threatening water security, and weak institutional capacity limits the effectiveness of water utilities. Maambo understands that addressing these challenges requires not only infrastructure investment but also institutional reform, sustainable financing mechanisms, and genuine community participation in water system management.

As Minister of Water and Sanitation, he will champion a national water security strategy that includes accelerated rural water point construction, urban sanitation system modernisation, strengthening of water utility governance and financial sustainability, investment in water resource protection and catchment management, and the development of public-private partnership frameworks to mobilise private investment in water infrastructure. He is committed to ensuring that access to safe water and decent sanitation — fundamental human rights — become a reality for every Zambian community.

MINISTER OF ENVIRONMENT, FORESTRY & FISHERIES

Hon. Kasonde C. Mwenda Male

EFF President · BArch, LLB, MPhil Intellectual Property · Author and Activist

Hon. Kasonde C. Mwenda is a uniquely multidisciplinary leader — an architect, lawyer, intellectual property expert, author, and environmental activist — whose diverse intellectual formation gives him an exceptional ability to integrate environmental protection with economic development imperatives. He holds a Bachelor of Architecture, a Bachelor of Laws, and an MPhil in Intellectual Property — credentials that reflect both technical rigour and sophisticated legal and policy analysis capability.

As President of the Economic Freedom Fighters (EFF) Zambia, he has articulated a political vision that challenges resource exploitation frameworks that fail to deliver genuine benefits to local communities, and advocates for environmental governance that holds both government and private sector actors accountable for ecological stewardship. His authorship and activism on environmental and governance issues have made him a recognised voice for sustainable development in Zambia's public discourse.

His architectural background gives him a distinctive lens on environmental policy — understanding built environments, land use planning, and the relationship between human settlement patterns and ecological systems. His intellectual property expertise is directly relevant to the protection of Zambia's biodiversity, traditional ecological knowledge, and genetic resources. As Minister of Environment, Forestry and Fisheries, he will advance Zambia's climate commitments, strengthen forest conservation frameworks, combat illegal logging and wildlife trafficking, promote community-led natural resource management, develop sustainable fisheries governance in Zambia's lakes and rivers, and ensure that environmental protection is integrated into all national development planning.

MINISTER OF LAND REFORM

Hon. Greyford Monde Male

PF Mobilization Chairman · BA Economics · Former Minister of Fisheries · MP for Itezhi Tezhi

Hon. Greyford Monde brings extensive government experience and a deep understanding of rural communities' land needs to the critical ministerial brief of Land Reform. He has served as Member of Parliament for Itezhi Tezhi — a constituency that encompasses significant rural and traditional land areas — and as Minister of Fisheries, where he developed practical experience of the nexus between land access, natural resource management, and rural livelihoods.

Holding a Bachelor of Arts in Economics, Monde understands the economic dimensions of land — its role as collateral for accessing finance, as the foundation of agricultural production, as a determinant of community wealth, and as a source of tenure insecurity when land administration systems are weak or corrupt. Zambia's land challenges are deep-seated: a dual tenure system creates confusion and conflict between statutory and customary land rights, land administration is often slow and opaque, and smallholder farmers and communities frequently lack secure tenure over the land they depend on.

As Minister of Land Reform, Monde will lead the development of a comprehensive land reform agenda focused on equitable land access, improved land administration efficiency, systematic land registration to provide communities and individuals with secure tenure documentation, transparent land allocation processes that eliminate opportunities for corruption, and the strengthening of traditional land governance systems. He will work to ensure that land reform delivers genuine benefits to rural communities, women farmers, and smallholders — giving them the security and opportunities needed to invest in their land and build sustainable agricultural enterprises.

MINISTER OF HUMAN SETTLEMENTS

Hon. Chishala Kateka Female

New Heritage Party President · FCCA · Former Barclays Zambia Chair

Hon. Chishala Kateka brings formidable financial expertise and governance experience to the challenge of human settlements — an area of policy where strong financial management is as critical as social vision. As a Fellow of the Chartered Certified Accountants (FCCA), she has the professional credentials to understand the complex financing requirements of housing development, urban infrastructure, and settlement services.

Her tenure as Chair of Barclays Zambia's Board of Directors placed her at the apex of one of Zambia's leading financial institutions, where she oversaw governance of a major bank while navigating the complex intersection of financial services, regulatory compliance, and community banking. This experience gives her unique insight into housing finance systems — understanding how mortgage markets work, what prevents low-income Zambians from accessing home loans, and how development finance institutions can catalyse affordable housing investment.

As President of the New Heritage Party, Kateka has articulated a vision for a Zambia where all citizens can access decent, dignified housing and live in well-planned, serviced communities. As Minister of Human Settlements, she will develop a national affordable housing strategy that mobilises public and private finance, streamlines planning approval processes to reduce housing costs, upgrades informal settlements with infrastructure and tenure security, strengthens building standards enforcement, and creates community housing cooperatives that empower low-income households to participate in formal housing markets. She is committed to ensuring that Zambia's rapid urbanisation is matched by housing solutions that uphold human dignity.

RESOURCES, DIPLOMACY, ARTS & CULTURE

MINISTER OF MINERAL & PETROLEUM RESOURCES

Hon. Christopher C. Kang'ombe Male

MA Economic Policy Management · BSc Electrical/Mechanical Engineering · MP for Kamfinsa (2021) · Former Mayor of Kitwe

Hon. Christopher C. Kang'ombe is a technically accomplished leader whose combination of engineering expertise and economic policy training positions him exceptionally well to steward Zambia's vast mineral resources for maximum national benefit. He holds a Bachelor of Science in Electrical/Mechanical Engineering — giving him deep technical understanding of mining operations, energy systems, and industrial processes — complemented by a Master of Arts in Economic Policy Management that equips him to design resource governance frameworks and fiscal regimes aligned with Zambia's development objectives.

His tenure as Mayor of Kitwe — the Copperbelt's most significant industrial city and the heart of Zambia's copper mining economy — gave him direct, practical experience of how mining activity shapes urban economies, environmental conditions, community welfare, and local government revenue. As Member of Parliament for Kamfinsa Constituency since 2021, he represents a Copperbelt community whose lives are intimately bound up with the mining industry and who bear both the benefits and the environmental and social costs of resource extraction.

As Minister of Mineral and Petroleum Resources, Kang'ombe will lead the development of a comprehensive resource governance strategy that maximises Zambia's fiscal receipts from mining, ensures environmental responsibility and mine rehabilitation, promotes local content in mining supply chains, advances value addition through downstream beneficiation of copper and other minerals, and positions Zambia at the centre of the global green energy transition as a critical minerals supplier. He will work to ensure that Zambia's mineral wealth translates into lasting prosperity for its people.

MINISTER OF INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS

Hon. Harry Kalaba Male

MP for Bahati · Former Minister of Foreign Affairs (2014–2018) · Founder, Citizens First Party · UNZA Graduate

Hon. Harry Kalaba served as Zambia's Minister of Foreign Affairs from 2014 to 2018, bringing to that role the energy of a committed advocate for Zambia's international interests and a willingness to challenge diplomatic conventions when he believed the national interest demanded it. His 2018 resignation from the cabinet — publicly citing concerns about corruption and ethical governance — demonstrated a rare commitment to principle over personal political advancement, and has defined his public profile as an advocate for accountability in public life.

A graduate of the University of Zambia, Kalaba founded the Citizens First Party as a vehicle for a politics grounded in ethical governance, anti-corruption, and economic justice. As Member of Parliament for Bahati Constituency, he has continued to use legislative platforms to challenge governance failures and advocate for community development in his constituency.

His four years as Foreign Affairs Minister gave him direct experience of diplomatic negotiation, multilateral institution engagement, and the management of Zambia's bilateral relationships across Africa and the wider world. He developed working relationships with foreign counterparts, understood the architecture of regional and continental diplomatic institutions, and navigated the complex intersection of national interest and international obligation. As Minister of International Relations, Kalaba will pursue an ethical diplomacy agenda: advancing Zambia's strategic trade and investment partnerships, strengthening South-South cooperation, leveraging diplomatic relationships to support domestic economic development goals, and positioning Zambia as a credible, principled voice in multilateral forums on issues including debt relief, climate finance, and global governance reform.

MINISTER OF COMMUNICATIONS & DIGITAL TECHNOLOGIES

Dr. Fred M'membe Male

Renowned Journalist and Lawyer · Founder, The Post Newspapers · IPI World Press Hero Award (2000) · DBA, LLM, MA, LLB, Bachelor of Accountancy

Dr. Fred M'membe is one of Africa's most academically accomplished and publicly known media and political figures. As founder and editor of The Post Newspapers — once Zambia's most influential independent newspaper — he led one of the continent's most courageous journalistic enterprises, fearlessly challenging powerful political interests and earning international recognition for press freedom advocacy, including the International Press Institute (IPI) World Press Hero Award in 2000.

His academic credentials are extraordinary in their breadth: a Doctorate in Business Administration (DBA), a Master of Laws in Taxation (LLM), a Master of Arts in Economic Policy Management, a Bachelor of Laws (LLB), and a Bachelor of Accountancy — qualifications that combine legal expertise, economic analysis, business management, and taxation law into a uniquely comprehensive professional formation. This educational depth gives him unparalleled analytical capacity to design complex policy frameworks.

As President of the Socialist Party, he has articulated a political vision centred on economic justice, media freedom, and the use of digital technology as a tool for democratic participation and economic empowerment. His deep understanding of media systems — from their business models to their regulatory environments and their role in democratic discourse — gives him distinctive insight into the communications sector. As Minister of Communications and Digital Technologies, he will lead Zambia's digital transformation agenda: expanding broadband infrastructure to underserved communities, developing a digital economy regulatory framework that promotes innovation and protects citizens, bridging the digital divide between urban and rural Zambia, and positioning digital technology as a platform for government service delivery, economic participation, and civic engagement.

MINISTER OF TOURISM

Hon. Margaret Mwanakatwe Female

BBA · Pioneer CEO of Barclays Zambia and UBA Uganda · Former Minister of Finance and Commerce

Hon. Margaret Mwanakatwe is one of Zambia's most distinguished business and public policy leaders, a pioneer whose career has broken barriers and set standards in both the private financial sector and government service. As the inaugural Chief Executive Officer of Barclays Bank Zambia, she led the establishment of a major banking institution from inception — an entrepreneurial and leadership achievement that demonstrated exceptional organisational capability and strategic vision. She subsequently served as CEO of United Bank for Africa (UBA) Uganda, extending her financial sector leadership across borders.

Her transition from private sector leadership to government service saw her serve as Minister of Finance and Minister of Commerce — portfolios in which she brought her business discipline and financial expertise to bear on Zambia's macroeconomic management and trade policy. These experiences give her a rare vantage point:

understanding how government policy affects the business community and how business sector dynamism can drive national economic growth.

As Minister of Tourism, Mwanakatwe will pursue a comprehensive tourism development strategy that leverages Zambia's extraordinary natural assets — from Victoria Falls and Kafue National Park to the Luangwa Valley and Lake Tanganyika — to generate sustainable economic growth, foreign exchange earnings, and local employment. She will develop policies to attract quality foreign direct investment in tourism infrastructure, support community-based tourism enterprises that share benefits with local communities, advance eco-tourism standards that protect Zambia's natural heritage, and integrate Zambia's tourism offering into regional African tourism circuits and AfCFTA trade frameworks.

MINISTER OF SPORTS, ARTS & CULTURE

Hon. Binwell Chansa Mpundu Male

Independent MP for Nkana · Former Kitwe District Commissioner (2017–2020) · Businessman and Youth Advocate

Hon. Binwell Chansa Mpundu serves as Independent Member of Parliament for Nkana Constituency — one of the Copperbelt's most historically significant constituencies — bringing an independent, community-first perspective to national politics that transcends partisan boundaries. His earlier service as Kitwe District Commissioner from 2017 to 2020 gave him executive experience in local government administration, including the management of cultural and sports facilities, community events, and youth development programmes in one of Zambia's most important urban centres.

As a businessman and youth advocate, Mpundu understands the economic potential of the creative and sports industries — sectors that in many countries have become significant employers, exporters of cultural products, and drivers of national pride and social cohesion. He recognises that Zambia's extraordinary cultural heritage — spanning its 73 ethnic groups, rich musical traditions, visual arts, crafts, and cultural festivals — represents both an intrinsic national treasure and an underutilised economic asset.

As Minister of Sports, Arts and Culture, he will develop a national strategy to harness the economic and social power of sport, arts, and culture. This will include investing in sports infrastructure and talent identification programmes to nurture Zambian athletes, developing markets for Zambian cultural products and creative industries, supporting arts education in schools, promoting cultural tourism, protecting and celebrating Zambia's diverse cultural heritage, and using sports and cultural events as platforms for national unity and community development. He will champion Zambia's creative economy as a genuine sector of national economic strategy.

OFFICE OF THE PRESIDENCY

MINISTER IN THE PRESIDENCY — PLANNING, MONITORING & EVALUATION

Hon. Franklyn Luando Male

FCCA and FCMA · Founder, F.C.L Accountancy Tuition Centre · Financial Strategy Expert

Hon. Franklyn Luando is a dual Fellow — holding both the Fellowship of the Chartered Certified Accountants (FCCA) and the Fellowship of the Chartered Institute of Management Accountants (FCMA) — a distinction that places him among the most technically qualified financial professionals in Zambia. These credentials reflect mastery of both external financial reporting and internal management accounting — the disciplines of measuring, planning, and controlling organisational performance that are essential to driving results in large public institutions.

As founder of F.C.L Accountancy Tuition Centre, he has invested in developing the next generation of Zambian financial professionals — an entrepreneurial contribution to the country's human capital that reflects his commitment to capacity building beyond his own career. His expertise in financial strategy and performance management has been applied across multiple contexts, giving him a sophisticated understanding of how organisations can use data, measurement systems, and accountability frameworks to achieve their objectives.

In the Office of the Presidency, Luando will serve as the engine of government performance — designing and implementing the national development planning framework, establishing robust monitoring and evaluation systems for all government programmes, driving evidence-based decision-making across ministries, and ensuring that the President has reliable, timely information on progress against national targets. He will institutionalise a culture of performance accountability across the entire government, ensuring that ministerial commitments translate into measurable outcomes for Zambian citizens. His technical expertise in management accounting will be applied to developing national performance scorecards that bring transparency and discipline to government programme delivery.

MINISTER IN THE PRESIDENCY

Mwitwa Mushibwe Female

Graduate, University of Zambia · Governance and Policy Development Expert

Mwitwa Mushibwe is a University of Zambia graduate whose deep engagement with governance systems, policy development, and public administration has prepared him for the demanding coordination role of Minister in the Presidency. His understanding of Zambia's governance architecture — how institutions relate to one another, how policy is developed and implemented, and where coordination failures undermine effective government — makes him a valuable facilitator in the Office of the Presidency.

As a member of Build One Zambia's leadership team, Mushibwe has been closely involved in the development of the shadow government's policy platform — contributing to the articulation of governance reform proposals, inter-ministerial coordination frameworks, and national development priorities. This experience has given him detailed familiarity with the policy commitments that the Build One Zambia government will be expected to deliver, and the institutional mechanisms needed to translate those commitments into action.

In the Presidency, Mushibwe will serve as a key liaison between the President, the Vice President, and the wider cabinet — ensuring coherent policy development, facilitating inter-ministerial collaboration on cross-cutting priorities, and maintaining the discipline of implementation follow-through. He will support the development of the government's policy communication strategy, ensure that presidential priorities are translated into clear ministerial mandates, and work to build the team cohesion and collaborative culture that will be essential to an effective Build One Zambia government. His commitment to principled, transparent, and people-centred governance reflects the values that define the Build One Zambia movement.
